

THE END

Kent Parker

A page-turning tale... compelling, the edge of your seat.
A plot that is strong, but good stories must be complete.
All of our stories must end, the last page not turned again.

The curtain comes down, a pause as the crowd sits and waits.
A buzz starts to build for the encore they anticipate.
This is the start of the end. I don't know how to begin.

Thoughtfully crafted, carefully assembled, and then
Used as intended, dependable right till the end.

It's over now, I see that look in your eyes.
You glance away as you speak, and I realize.
This is the start of the end. I don't know how to begin.
This is the start of the end. I don't know how to begin.